

A complete range of versatile tables

Origo is a complete range of tables with a focus on ergonomics, acoustics and flexibility to support physical work and study spaces. These tables are available in different heights and a variety of shapes, all with adjustable legs to offer high and low seating.

Create a coordinated look and a flexible space with rectangular, square, round, triangular and trapezoidal tables in several sizes. By varying the sizes and shapes of the tables, it's easy to reconfigure them in different ways to support the activity in question.

Origo offers two tabletops with good acoustic properties: the HPL Acoustic tabletop has a hardwearing surface of high-pressure laminate and effectively dampens noise from hard objects and marmoleum gives a warm, pleasant surface with excellent sound-dampening properties. An optional sound absorber is also available for underneath the table to further improve the acoustics in the room.

Origo can be ordered with innovative micro-casters, which are integrated in the leg and make it easy to move the tables and position them next to one another. It's also possible to add connectors. For tables that need to be moved longer distances or over thresholds, there are also larger castors.
